The power of partnership

When times are tough, it's good to have partners who understand your business and share your priorities. Thomas & Betts Canada Ltd and ENMAX have successfully navigated the evolution of Canada's electrical industry together for the past forty years.

From underground and overhead distribution to network systems, Thomas & Betts components play a role in controlling, managing and optimizing the flow of electricity throughout the ENMAX network.

Keeping the power of electricity working for all of us.
